HARRY M. CARPENTER DIES IN COLUMBUS HOTEL

Hoover Faces Strenuous Week

SELECTING NEW CABINET FORMS REAL PROBLEM

Inauguration Speech Not
As Yet Completed;
Capital Watches

THREE POSTS ARE FILLED, IS CLAIM

Balance of Cabinet Forms
Basis For Many Rumors

Washington, Feb. 25.—A week ago today Herbert Hoover will be inaugurated. His cabinet still is incomplete. His inaugural address still is unfinished. Ahead of him are seven strenuous days—days in which final decisions must be made. As matters stand today, political Washington, with both eyes glued to the ground to catch every passing cabinet rumble, feels positively certain that only three of the ten cabinet positions. These are:

Secretary of state—Henry L. Stimson of New York.
Secretary of the Treasury—Andrew W. Mellon of Pennsylvania.
Secretary of the interior—Ray Lyman Wilbur of California.

As for the rest there are rumors, reports, tips, indications, and even "reasonable probabilities," but when all of them are boiled down the residue is uncertainty.

Many Names Available
There are enough names on Mr. Hoover's desk in his S street home to fill three cabinets. These have been weeded out of an earlier list that contained enough names to fill ten. The names are still being juggled today a week in advance of the big announcement. It is improbable that final decisions in some cases will not be made until the last of the week.

Present indications—And they are only indications—point to the following possibilities:

Postmaster general—Valter F. Brown of Ohio.
Secretary of Labor—William N. Dask of Virginia.

Secretary of the navy—Charles Francis Adams of Massachusetts.
Secretary of war—William J. Donovan of New York.

Secretary of commerce—Julius Klein of Massachusetts and California.

Two Posts Unknown

This leaves two posts unaccounted for—the attorney generalship and the secretaryship of agriculture, both of which are extremely important in the Hoover scheme of things.

For the attorney generalship, Mr. Hoover is seeking a constitutional dray of such outstanding reputation and legal ability that there can be no accusations of laxity in his efforts to really enforce the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law after the function of enforcement has been transferred from the treasury to the department of justice.

The president-elect has sought unsuccessfully to persuade Justice Harlan Fiske Stone and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho to undertake the job. Both have declined. Borah because of his reluctance to give up his independent position in the senate; Stone because of his unwillingness to leave the bench. It was reported today that Mr. Hoover had not yet given up hope of winning over Justice Stone.

Mrs. Ernest Graham is also in a serious condition. She sustained internal injuries.

The party was enroute to Anna, 20 miles north of here, to attend the funeral of a relative.

According to witnesses, the driver drove the car onto the tracks, completely disregarding danger signals and the siren of the car. The auto was demolished.

70TH CONGRESS IN FINAL WEEK OF EXISTENCE

Tumultuous Sessions Are Probable As Bills
Face Solons

PROHIBITION FUND BATTLE LOOMING

Increase in Punishment
For Dry Violators
Also Discussed

Washington, Feb. 25.—The 70th congress, sentenced by the constitution to die on March 4, entered its final week today facing tumultuous sessions in the house and senate.

Presidential appointments, the Vore Case, the $24,000,000 proposed increase in prohibition funds, the house reorganization bill and the second deficiency appropriation bill will furnish the fireworks to illumine the final hours of the dying congress. Filibusters have been threatened on all sides and there were indications the old 70th would be throttled to death, as has been the custom in recent years, instead of expiring gently.

The second deficiency appropriation bill occupied the house with a battle pending over the $24,000,000 increase in prohibition funds voted last congress ago by the senate. With this out of the way, the house will be asked to pass upon the new dry enforcement bill, which assesses a new maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for habitual bootleggers. After that, the lower branch may indulge in the usual political pyrotechnics that accompany the death of congress.

The senate faced a half dozen legislative battles. Its program was topped by a scheduled discussion of the Reed campaign committee's report, declaring Senator-elect William S. Vare (R) of Pennsylvania.

Second Deficiency Bill
The second deficiency appropriation bill, carrying funds to pay overdue bills in all government departments, however, will furnish the high lights of the closing hours in the senate. A determined filibuster has been planned against this bill, unless the house should include the $24,000,000 dry fund in it. The action of the house in adding an amendment slashing the salaries of the 2,800 most valuable employees in the government service, merely served to increase opposition to the bill.

Three other appropriation bills remained in conference—the first deficiency, the interior department and the naval appropriation bills. The first deficiency bill has been abandoned by a real fight has been staged over the interior bill, because of a house item giving the secretary of interior carte blanche authority to condemn private property in government parks. The senate has refused three times to authorize this power, and the fate of the bill is in doubt. The naval bill faced little opposition, having passed both house and senate with the funds for the new cruisers intact.

The motif of the closing hours of congress therefore will be fireworks, filibusters, battles and warfare.

LARGER SCHOOL UNITS IN RURAL AREA PROPOSED

Meeting at Leetonia Held
For Purpose Of Discussion

Larger rural school units, as an economic measure, are being proposed in Columbiana county, and the first move in this direction was taken at a meeting of the boards of education of Leetonia, Washington and Salem township held at Leetonia.

At this conference it was proposed to include the Washingtonville school district and a part of Salem township in the Leetonia school district, and later form another new district that would include a part of Perry, Butler and Salem townships. By this plan several rural boards of education would be eliminated, and at the same time give a larger property valuation to the new school districts.

A committee is to confer with County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard for the purpose of fixing the boundary lines for the proposed new Leetonia school district.

In several rural school districts the centralized school district in Columbiana county at this time is now in Fairfield township, but one in Hanover township is now proposed. Residents of Franklin township are also considering such a movement. The idea of centralized schools is gaining favor on account of the completion of many new highways in the county.

JACK DEMPSEY NEAR TO DEATH

Intruder Fires Shot But
Misses Former Champ
By Inches

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 25.—Jack Dempsey, former champion heavyweight of the world, had a narrow escape from death today when a man entered the bedroom in which he was sleeping and fired a bullet at him. The bullet missed his head by a foot or two and was imbedded in the wall.

Dempsey was sleeping in the same room with Floyd Fitzsimmons, a fight promoter of Benton Harbor, Mich., when the intruder entered. It was 3 a. m.

"Stick 'em up," the man said. Dempsey reached over and turned on the light. The man evidently thought he was alone. He became excited when he saw Fitzsimmons.

According to the story, Dempsey and Fitzsimmons dressed and made a search in the vicinity for the man. Dempsey was quite calm throughout the thrilling episode but later this morning he told a friend with whom he went motoring that he felt "pretty shaky after what had happened."

The ex-champion made every effort to keep the matter secret. The bullet was taken out of his possession today.

Dempsey told a friend that he could see no reason why anyone should want to shoot him. He was of the opinion that it was the work of a bandit rather than an enemy.

JUDGE LOUIS T. FARR

Lindy Makes Long Flight to Mexico; Is Visiting Anne

Mexico City, Feb. 25.—Reunited for the first time since their engagement was announced, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, today enjoyed seclusion amid romantic surroundings at Cuernavaca, where Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow's country home is located.

Lindbergh made a spectacular all-day solo-flight over mountainous, bandit-infested territory to visit his future bride. He left Eagle Pass, Texas, at 7:40 a. m. and arrived here at 6:53 p. m.

Upon landing he looked about, as though expecting some one in particular to meet him. Instead he met Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancée through an American embassy official.

He left for the embassy after making his usual non-committal replies to the questions of the reporters. At the embassy, he made a telephone call, presumably to Miss Morrow.

Within an hour of his arrival here, the famous aviator had begun a 60-mile journey to Cuernavaca in an automobile over mountainous roads. He wore a dark gray suit and a gray fedora hat. His luggage consisted of two suitcases and a duffle bag.

In going to see his fiancée Lindbergh made a 1,000-mile non-stop flight, one of the longest ever made over the wild terrain of Mexico.

A defective furnace is said to have been responsible for a fire which caused about $2,500 damage to the home of Thomas Merryweather, a furnace manufacturer.

Judges Farr and Lones to Be Honored at Banquet;
Ohio Attorney General Will Be Guest;
Officers For Year To Be Elected

Judge Louis T. Farr of Lisbon, a member of the district court of appeals, and Judge W. Frank Lones of Wellsburg, who presides over common pleas court at Lisbon, will be honored by the Columbiana County Bar association at a banquet at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at the Elks home.

Gilbert Bettman of Columbus, attorney general for Ohio, will deliver the address of the evening.

Final plans for the occasion have been arranged by the committee appointed by Atty. L. P. Metzger of Salem, at a recent meeting of the association. A program of entertainment has been arranged, to consist of musical selections and talks.

The banquet committee is composed of Homer W. Hammond, Columbiana, chairman; K. L. Coburn, of Salem; W. H. Vorey, East Liverpool; W. W. Beck, Lisbon; John E. Baunkecht, East Palestine.

Reports will be heard from the special committee, also appointed by Metzger, which was delegated to investigate the advantages of the proposed second common pleas judge for Columbiana county. Whether the association will support the proposed measure will in all probability be determined at the meeting, the committee having been detailed to examine county court records to ascertain whether the additional judge is needed.

Attorney R. W. Campbell, of Salem; George T. Farrell, Lisbon; Robert M. Brooks, East Liverpool; L. M. Kyes, East Palestine, and S. M. Crawford, of East Liverpool, are members of the special committee.

The after dinner program will open with a short program of orchestra music, following which Rev. A. C. Westphal, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, will pronounce the invocation. Atty. Hammond will present the report of the committee and a business session of the county association will follow.

Atty. Metzger will be introduced as toastmaster. Brief remarks will be offered by the honored guests, Judge Farr and Judge Lones, and their program will include two vocal selections by Atty. Blaine H. Cochran of East Liverpool, with accompaniment by Mrs. Danks Cochran of East Liverpool.

The address of the evening will be given by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman of Columbus, to be followed by an open forum conducted by the toastmaster.

George McCave of Salem, convicted by the county grand jury last week in his second trial for burglary, was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary by Judge W. F. Lones this morning to serve from three to 15 years.

A motion for a new trial was overruled. Before sentence was passed Atty. H. L. McCarthy of Salem, informed the court that his client did not wish to be sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory. The court complied with the request, and sentenced him to the state penitentiary.

McCave and Walter Mellinger, also of this city, were arrested by Salem police on a charge of breaking and entering the Walter Moff feed store, on Broadway and stealing a quantity of wheat.

Mellinger entered a plea of guilty and will be sentenced Wednesday morning.

Earl Ritchie, Salem constable, convicted on a charge of assault and battery, was sentenced to serve 20 days in the county jail and to pay costs of prosecution.

PLAYED LEADING ROLE IN SENATE

Legislature To Adjourn
On Day of Funeral;
Body In Steubenville

Columbus, Feb. 25.—The body of State Senator Harry M. Carpenter, who died late Saturday in his hotel suite here, will be returned to his Steubenville, O., home this afternoon.

Senator Carpenter became ill last week. His illness was first pronounced by physicians to be influenza. The latter part of the week his condition became critical and attending physicians stated that complications had set in.

He was reported as "resting easy" Saturday evening when suddenly members of his family became alarmed and summoned his three doctors to make another examination. The Senator expired near midnight when he failed to rally after heart stimulants had been given.

Both branches of the Ohio legislature will adjourn Wednesday, the day of Senator Carpenter's funeral, out of respect to the man who for a decade had been one of its most distinguished members.

He was a member of six general assemblies and had he lived, he would have closed 12 years of service in the capital with the conclusion of the present term.

A bill bearing the late senator's name, and considered one of the most important measures to be dealt with at this session, would repeal the Pence law. The measure has passed the senate and it has been planned to rush it through the house.

Bridgeport, O., Feb. 25.—No special election will be held to choose the successor to State Senator Harry M. Carpenter, who died in Columbus from influenza late Saturday. It was announced here today.

Carpenter represented the twentieth and twenty-second Ohio congressional districts, comprising Belmont, Jefferson, Columbiana and Harrison counties.

Clyde J. Bartlesbaugh, chief election deputy in Belmont county, the largest in the district, pointed out that even though a special election should materialize, the successor could hardly be chosen before the end of the legislative session. The state senator's place will be filled at the 1930 election, he said.

SPEAKING OF NECESSARY LEGISLATION

If we are to judge by the utterances of Governor Cooper, he is of the opinion that there are far too many laws in the statute books of Ohio. This was his expressed view on the stump, and we believe it has been his view since his elevation to the governorship. If our memory serves us correctly, it was his recommendation that the general assembly at its present session should enact only such laws as it deemed absolutely necessary, and it must have been his wish that for every law enacted, one or more obsolete and unnecessary laws would be repealed. As a matter of fact, should the general assembly repeal ten to each new law enacted, it probably wouldn't seriously displease the governor.

Well, let us note what is being done in the general assembly.

Up to Tuesday, 257 bills had been introduced, 67 in the senate and 160 in the house.

It doesn't necessarily follow that all the bills introduced will be enacted into laws, and it doesn't follow that the governor will approve them should they be. Nor does it follow that, should he disapprove of them, they will be passed over his veto. Thus we are not at this time able to tell from the bills offered what will be the legislative outcome. But from the number of bills offered we can tell the tendency of the general assembly and we are able to judge, in part, of how closely they come to meeting the call for necessary legislation.

With this latter thought in mind, we call attention to two bills of which wire report was sent out from Columbus Tuesday. The first, introduced by Representative G. E. Sharp, of Vinton county, provides for the placing of a tax of five per cent on the gross receipts of all amusements. The second, offered by Representative W. L. Guard, of Urbana, is for the levying of a production tax of one per cent, on the gross earnings of all Ohio mines.

Can you beat either of those propositions?

It would indeed be hard to think of anything in much worse shape than the field of amusements unless it be the condition of the coal industry. The high cost of productions, high railroad fares, high pay for stage help, high cost of music and taxes have combined practically to drive touring theatrical organizations out of business. It is now the rare exception when a theatrical offering can be seen outside the big cities. As to movie houses, the majority of those outside the larger cities are leading a hand-to-mouth existence. And as for the coal industry, it hasn't been in so bad a situation for years as it is today. Hundreds of mines are shut down and those being operated are not making fortunes.

In the face of such situations as these, the two legislators named would further handicap those engaged in purveying amusements and those producing coal. True, the tax would be shifted to the patron in one case and to the consumer in the other, but that wouldn't help the business of either.

If the general assembly must raise more funds with which to feed the tax-eaters of Ohio, it should at least endeavor to place the taxes necessary upon some enterprises which are not fighting with their backs to the wall.

Sometimes one is inclined to feel that there may have been merit in the observation of the fellow, who remarked that he never would be able to decide how little he thought of some lawmakers until after they were political lame ducks or dead.

In an effort to have a novel exposition Chicago has decided that it will omit the customary deficit — Louisville Courier-Journal.

There are laws against weapon-carrying. They do not appear to apply very rigidly to professional gunmen. — Washington Star.

What Others Say

THE HOT DOG CROP

Hot dogs to the number of 880,000,000 were eaten in the United States last year, according to the Packers and Sausage Manufacturers' association, or nearly eight for every man, woman and child. Thus one is almost forced to believe in spite of those who cherish illusions about turkey, hominy and other native delicacies, the national food of this country is the hot dog, an imported product.

At first glance this is gloomy news. For the hot dog, whatever its virtues, is surely not elegant, and a nation which has a predilection for it seems somewhat lacking in taste. But after you think about it a while you realize that things are not quite so bad as they appear. For the hot dog is hardly any American's first choice in food. It belongs, rather, in the category of his second choice; it is eaten when he is unable to obtain the things that he likes better. In this category of second choice it no doubt heads the list; it has superseded the sandwich, the bag of popcorn, the hokey-pokey block and other things which a generation ago enabled us to stifle hunger under emergency conditions. We eat it at baseball games, where we take what we can get, passing a dime down the row from hand to hand; but we do not eat it at a banquet to Babe Ruth. We eat it on a roadside, sitting on the running board; but we do not eat it at a roadhouse. We eat it on the Coney Island boardwalk, but we do not eat it at Feltman's.

Bearing this point in mind, we can concede that the hot dog has much to be said for it. It beats a sandwich all hollow, as it has some juice in it and does not choke you when you try to swallow it. It beats peanuts, popcorn and such things, as you can actually get your teeth into it and chew a while. And it beats hokey-pokey, ice cream cones, and such things, at least so far as men are concerned, because men for some reason have an aversion to sweets. And, finally, lying between two halves of a split roll, it is gone when it is gone, and you do not have to call in the fire department to get your fingers washed. As for us, we are in favor of it, and rejoice that it is dispensed from edifices built in the image of Greek temples. — New York World.

THIS day's sidereal operations may foster and promote the things of the mind and all those employments, pursuits and avocations calling for mental activity and capability. Correspondence, writings, publicity, publications and kindred things flourish, but other affairs are in danger of sudden and devastating visitation. There is a warning against abrupt and ill-considered change, journey or removal. Also against small worries and deceptions.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fairly active and successful year if engaged in mental pursuits, printing, publishing, advertising, writing. But there are hostile possibilities from sudden change, travel or other precipitate occurrences or small deceptions. A child born on this day may be brilliant and clever in many directions but may be subject to many sudden reversals and tribulations in life.

WEAR BUNN'S GOOD SHOES

OUR DUTY TO STRIVE TOWARD THIS IDEAL

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

If you were called upon to define civilization and to give your ideas of what constitutes civilization, what would you say?

The dictionary says that civilization is "a state of social culture characterized by relative progress in the arts, science and statecraft." This definition would surely be called "high-brow" by most of us—wouldn't it?

Well, anyhow we need not worry over what Webster says about civilization. I'm going to give you a better definition. That is, I'm going to re-define to you what a writer says about it. Let me quote:

"Civilization is a rather difficult term to define, but generally speaking, it represents the condition of an orderly society in which the objectives, ministering to health and happiness, are within the reach of practically the entire population."

Then, to make sure he is understood, the writer continues: "A civilized government is primarily concerned with the prosperity of the people and its best maintenance under given conditions of health and physical efficiency."

These are the words of a great man—Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, the statistician of one of the largest insurance companies. Everything Dr. Hoffman says is worthy of study and confidence.

The doctor has just written a book entitled, "Some Problems of Longevity." He points out the importance of developing, early in life, a sound philosophy of right living and right thinking. Then, as a matter of course, the life will be governed in such a way that long life is the natural result.

But we were talking about civilization. I have long preached the doctrine that the purpose of government is to serve humanity. It is not serving humanity unless it does everything a government should do to promote the health and welfare of all its citizens. When it does do this, then, as I view it, it is a civilized government, and its happy citizens are living under the high standards — claimed by Dr. Hoffman.

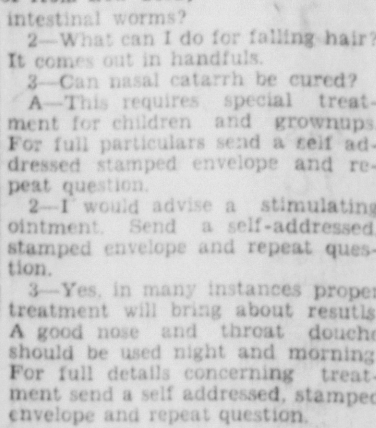

But, until health and happiness are, as he says, within the reach of practically the entire population, we are not fully civilized. It is our duty as citizens to do all we can to arrive at this ideal condition.

After all, however, to have national health is not entirely a governmental function. We must do our part as units of a society that cannot be perfect physically until all its units possess health.

Health is not a personal matter alone. Disease of the individual brings hardship and sacrifice, unhappiness and misery, to family and friends and harm to the economic world.

We cannot have universal health until every member of society has developed a sound philosophy of right living and right thinking. It cannot be considered a sound philosophy until every citizen in his personal life lives up to his ideals.

The Evolution of Light

THIRTY thousand years ago the Stone Age man learned first how to conquer the darkness of his cave by fire . . . and then that a fish or a bird wrapped in fibrous material made a good torch. When he found that the dripping fat from this also burned, he had invented the first oil lamp.

Later, light became symbolic of power to the Egyptians, and so it was they who added beauty to their oil and charcoal lamps. Greece contributed carved marble and bronze lamp tripods, while Rome brought ornate bronze grill work and brilliant color to lighting fittings. Candle light is first heralded in the Bible, but the Renaissance developed it to an elaborate stage with gorgeous crystal chandeliers and intricately wrought candelabra.

The burning knot of pitch pine, the whale oil lamp, the kerosene lamp and the gas burner have all done service in the illumination of American homes, and each has in turn retired before the modern magic of Electricity and Edison's incandescent lamp.

Jesse Schafer To Sponsor Bowling Tourney In March

The first bowling tournament to be held in Salem in years will be held starting March 8th, at Jesse Schafer's recreation room. It was announced today by Schafer, who for years has been a backer of athletic teams of the city, and now is entering into sponsoring of indoor activities.

The tourney is open to all tenpin bowlers of this city and vicinity. Entries will close March 8. Blanks can be secured from Schafer, who has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the event at a meeting held by leaders of the maple-crashing sport of the city last week.

Charles Myer is president. Paul Callahan, Fred Winnall, and H. E. Ruelle compose the committee in charge of arrangements.

It will be a handicap affair, each entrant being accredited with one-half the number of pins he rolls under 200. Both singles and doubles will be held. Prizes will be announced later.

Salem Saxons Win Seventh League Game

Coach Stone Uses 13 Players In One-Sided Court Battle

Salem Saxons found only slight opposition in the Youngstown Saxons cage organization, in the Penn-Ohio German league engagement of the two teams, Saturday night at the Memorial building, the Quaker City aggregation easily rolling up a 87-23 score, for its seventh victory of the season.

It was the biggest total amassed by any team in league competition in the two years of the circuit's organization. Youngstown failed to put up even a semblance of a struggle in either department of the contest.

Pete Sanders and Les Older each connected with the hoop for 13 field goals, and led the scoring, with 25 points apiece. Andy Hann tallied eight fielders and a foul for 17 points.

This Saturday the Salem outfit meets Cleveland East in one of the most important games of the season, at Cleveland. East was set back in a sensational battle at the Salem gym early in the season, but is battling hard for first place in the circuit, which is now in possession of the Saxons of this city.

Salem High Ends Season With 48-17 Win Over Akron Central

Tire City Five Outclassed By Red And Black

Mahoning "5" Outclassed By Quaker Combine At Memorial Gym

Salem High finished its 1928-29 cage schedule in spectacular fashion, Saturday night, easily defeating Akron Central High, 48-17, for its thirteenth victory of the season.

From the time Bob Cope and Freddie Guilford dropped in opening minutes, until the final part by Coach Stone's regulars, in the last two minutes of play, Central never had a chance. The starting quintet played less than half of the game, 13 players being installed into action by Stone.

It was probably the last appearance on the Salem gym of Captain Ed Sidinger, Freddie Guilford, Bob Cope, Jimmy Scullion, and Bob Van Blaricom. Each of these put up a classy display of basketball, leading the Red and Black march to victory, and will now concentrate all efforts on flaunting the colors of their team to an impressive showing in the district tournament.

Salem started off to its one-sided win in the first few seconds of play. Cope and Guilford batting in the leather as it rebounded off the backboard on successive plays. Whinnery and Scullion each added a pair of field goals, the score at the end of the opening period being 14-2. "Red" Charlton, classy Central forward, who leads the Akron High school league scoring by more than 50 points counted the only points for Coach Armstrong's combine.

Charlton connected for another fielder on the first play in the second period, but Captain Sidinger, who remained scoreless in the first session, dribbled through for three goals in rapid succession. With the score 24-4, Stone put in an entirely new team. The half ended, 23-7.

Greenisen and Smith forwards; Van Blaricom, center, and Sartick and Yates, guards, formed the new combination. They continued the classy work in the third quarter, rolling up a 35-12 score, during the session. The starting five was placed back into the game with less than three minutes to go, indulged in another scoring spree.

Salem High freshmen defeated Hanoverston High varsity basketball in a fast over-time contest, 27-24, in the opening game of the evening. Red and Black reserves handed a combination of Salem Ex-Highs a 21-15 licking.

Salem High Lassies Win Nine Games During 1928-29 Season

Coach Anne Oelschlager Leads Red and Black To Fine Record

Winning nine games out of 14, Salem High lassies finished the 1928-29 basketball season with the best record chalked up to a Red and Black Girls' aggregation in years. Three games were won and two lost in the county circuit, in which the team finished in third place.

Despite the fact that Salem failed to capture the county trophy, the season is regarded as an unqualified success. Wellsville, winner of the championship, and Lisbon, who finished far down in the county loop, were the only outfits to annex a decision over Miss Oelschlager's maidens in the league. Wellsville later was defeated on the Salem team's court, East Palestine and East Liverpool both dropping games to the Red and Black sextet by decisive margins.

Opponents were outscored, 343 points to 286, during the season. The Lisbon defeat, one of the biggest upsets of the season, eliminated the team from the county race. Lisbon, up until the Salem game had won only one county tilt and was regarded as an easy victim for the Quaker City maidens.

Capt. Melba Barnes, regarded as the outstanding defensive player in the county, and nine other members of the team graduate this June. Betty Moss, Bertha Kent, Mary Older, Betty Riddle, Dorothy Lieder, Adelaide Dyball, Carnes, and Maude

Buck are the others who will not be back next year.

Star Players
Barnes and Kent were the team's outstanding performers throughout the season. Betty Moss played a consistently strong defensive game. Anna Zelle, forward, led the team scoring for the season, amassing a total of 143 points in the 14 games.

Kent was second in the team scoring with 160 points; Kathryn Litty scoring 86 for third honors. Points counted by other players follow:

Riddle 13; Tice 6; Dyball 6; Older 3, and Lutsch 2.

Zelle, Litty, Connie Tice, classy freshmen forward; Susan Lutsch, center forward; Margaret Reich, and Krepps, who participated in varsity competition will be available next season. Ward, Judge, Scullion, Fittmann, Millesmic, Zellers, Anderson, Alice Jones, Gottschling Matthews, will be contenders for the squad in the 1929-30 season.

Outlook Bright
The team started out like a flash at the start of the season but slackened down considerably towards the finish. The outlook for next year, Miss Oelschlager predicts, is especially bright, due to the number of outstanding under classmen who will be back. The season's record follows:

Salem Opponents
42 Alumni	23

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Feb. 25.—Greater and greater femininity seems to be the chief aim of the French dress-makers this spring, judging from the first models now being shown at the big houses of the rue de la Paix Champs Elysees. Fluffy, frilly models have definitely ousted the "garden" fancies of several seasons back.

At the same time, one sees nothing to reduce the practical utility of modern dress. Clothes remain slight, so lacking in bulk that they can still be packed into a very minute space, and short enough to trot about the streets conveniently in daytime but gracefully longer for evening. Extremely short skirts have already given way to more flattering lengths which cover the knees.

The waistline will undoubtedly waver this spring according to age, figure and proportions, but will probably keep the old place it has retained for several years, a bit below normal. That there will be no striking change in the slim silhouette seems to be a foregone conclusion. Women wish to keep their slender bodies and full skirts. More fluid styles have been accepted and more variety than has been since war days is on the way. It was inevitable that women would tire of the severely simple little two-piece dresses and slip-ons. They are now welcoming great variety and even fussiness.

One of the couturiers even predicts a season of frills and furbelows, but it is more than likely that they will be used only on the dressier type of afternoon frock and evening gowns. Morning and street ones are of the strictly tailored variety. Detailed flounces, flared tunics, detached panels, rounded or scalloped at the bottom, are some of the devices to further the move toward greater femininity.

"LENA SMITH CASE"

In "The Case of Lena Smith," which opens a two-day run at the State theater tonight, Esther Ralston has her greatest dramatic opportunity and she grasps it with all the talent which has made her one of the outstanding motion picture actresses of the day. She has built up a solid following with her beauty and her charm, and, sometimes, as in "The Case of Lena Smith," she has the chance to demonstrate that great dramatic force of which she is capable.

"The Case of Lena Smith" is something no one will want to miss under any circumstances. It is a story of mother love in the Josef von Sternberg manner. It has the same marks of the master that made "Underworld," "The Last Command," "The Drag Net" and "The Docks of New York" four of the outstanding pictures in the past decade. Von Sternberg stands head and shoulders above the rank and file of Hollywood directors and in this picture, he leaves the indelible mark of his personality.

The story is laid in Vienna and in the nearby countryside. It covers a period of 20 years from 1894 to 1914 and Miss Ralston plays the dual role of a young girl and a mother of 40 James Hall, the popular young leading man, has the chief supporting role and the versatile Fred Kohler has an important part. The color, the life, the people of gay Vienna are faithfully represented and the realistic scenes, evidencing a wealth of research in their reproduction, have an interest all their own. It is surely another of the screen's great masterpieces.

LOANS up to $500

These are the good old days we will be longing for a few years from now. Let's enjoy them while we may.

There is surely no need of denying yourself all the things that mean happiness, even though your cash balance is low, when you can so easily borrow the money you need and pay it back as your income affords. Loans are confined to moderate amounts at The City Loan, and payments are so small that it is practically impossible to go beyond your means.

While The City Loan is strongly opposed to "overloading" or loading money where it is not really needed just for the sake of making a loan, yet it gives special attention to the service of loaning to help folks enjoy a few more of the good things of life.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. A. C. Westphal, pastor.
Rev. A. C. Westphal speaking on the subject, "Trading Places With Yourself," said Sunday night.
"Horse trading and other forms of swapping have around them a tinge of disfavor for the reason that the sharpest trader does the unsuspecting trader. In some of our cities where automobile trading is done on a cash basis, and where the traders never see each other again, many vices are resorted to for the outstanding methods are: Cork, wax and flax seed. Cork is put in the differential to keep it from roasting; wax is melted and put in the oil to take up the play in the bearings eliminating the knock for a mile or two, while the flax seed is put in the radiator to keep it from leaking. A trader who puts such a afflicted machine on a buyer, is not held in high esteem. Some one says all trades are fraught with such dangers. Would you cheat your neighbor? You are the one who is doing the trading in this case. You hope of trading with yourself, trading places. When you become a Christian, you trade hearts. You keep old heart, but also get a new heart. Paul had both after his conversion, that's why he said, 'The good that I would I do not,' yet he was a Christian. When you trade you also trade Masters. Jesus becomes your new Master, but you also have the old to contend with. Who is without temptation? In the trade, you trade hopes. For a hope of despair, you get a hope of eternal life. You also trade yokes. You are yoked with a black yoke, the yoke of sin now; when you trade places, you get a white yoke, the yoke of passion for the lost. Will you trade the black for the white? You also trade homes. When I began life as a young married man, I was satisfied with a couple of light housekeeping rooms, because I didn't know of anything better, then I would not be satisfied with that now. Some of you are satisfied with your homes here. It is because you do not know of the better home in heaven. When you trade places with yourself in this proposition, you do not lose your home here, you just have another home added to your possessions, one of the many mansions Jesus spoke about.

REV. GEORGE D. KEISTER, PASTOR
Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church.
At the Sunday morning service, the pastor preached on, "The Deserving Faithful," and among some of the things he said were:
"We center our interest on our Lord's ransom and suffering as the days of Lent lead us on to Easter."
The cross, the cruel cross was the climax of the whole agonizing experience of our Master. There He was nailed to the cross and died for a sinning world. It would not be absolutely correct to say that our Savior suffered only upon the cross. His humiliation and bitter experience were denoted by the description of the disciples.
You no doubt have felt and had to face the bitter pangs of a desiring friend? Jesus did. His sufferings were intended by it.
Tell me, what makes a desirer? First, they live only for the present and if today is bitter, they are ready to quit. They forget that darkness must come before the dawn. They are blind to the fact that gloom is swallowed up by joy.
Second, they have not thought through the situation before them. They have walked blindly and they have no deep conviction.
Third, they lack courage. Do not think that courage and bravery are only terms for warriors. They are everyday terms. You need courage to be loyal to Christ. You need it to be a consistent Christian.
A desirer wears the heavenly crown. A desirer has his back to duty and responsibility. A desirer places distance between him and the task he should do, or the life he should lead.
The disciples forsook Jesus and fled. May we stand by Him."

REV. C. F. EVANS
First Christian Church
Rev. C. F. Evans, pastor of the First Christian church, spoke Sunday morning on the subject, "Who Are God's Favorites?"
"The Jews were a chosen race and the disciples felt they were especially favored. This was shown by a question which they asked Jesus when He was in the upper room. He denied them He would come back and one of them said, 'Master, how possible that you will be shown to us but not to the rest of the world?' and Jesus replied, 'Anyone who loves Me and observes My teachings, I will come to him and live with him.'"
"The world has enlarged and we have become intolerant and uncharitable with those who do not believe as we do. Christ made no distinction and through Him will come the solution of wars and industrial strife and individuals will regard other people as brothers."

With His help we may meet any temptation and will be able to bear any sorrow. The boys and girls of today have serious difficulties in living a Christian life but with His help they will have added strength to meet temptation. If we pray for guidance and fill our minds with pure thoughts we will become more like Him, our lives will be changed and God can come and live with us."

MELO
Oh, so clean!
Oh, so white!

CLEAN, white clothes. They were washed. They were scrubbed. They were rinsed. But not in hard water. For hard water mixes with the soap and forms scum. The scum gets into the fabric. No, these clothes were not washed in hard water.

Soft water cleaned these clothes. It was hard water at first, but Melo made that water, with or without soap! How clean and white the clothes were! How much more effective the soap was! Get a can of Melo today at your grocer's.
